A FAMILY OF WINNERS!

Helen and Pat Hadsell and their three children don't pay for vacations, cars, furniture, bicycles or even houses—they just win them. Their secret? A book Mrs. Hadsell read 20 years ago

By Robert Winston

Helen Hadsell enters contests and wins them. When Helen wanted a new home, she won one. When she needed things to fill it, she entered more contests and won a refrigerator, a microwave oven, stacks of furniture, small appliances, television sets, tape recorders, stereos, an electric organ, cameras, toys, bicycles, cash prizes and even a new car. To supply the party fare for the housewarming when the Hadsells moved into their dream home, Helen won several carloads of groceries.

Then there are the all-expense-paid trips—to Europe, to England, the Bahamas, and things for her family. But how could she afford them?

I know what, she said to herself, I'll win them.

Her husband, Pat, an enthusiastic fisherman, thought an outboard motor would suit him just fine. It just happened that Pat was reading about an outboard in his newspaper. It was offered as which of their several entries won, but one of them did. They had submitted: FootPrince, HimBUCKtoo, Fancy Prince, Stirup Dust, StanPedro, Twinkle Toes, and Prance Charmin'.

Then 10-year-old Dike wanted a bicycle too. In the contest he found you had to talk out like an old man.

Maybe Mother's onto something good."

A request came from daughter Pamela, then 16, for a bicycle. There was a contest in the Sunday comics to name a pony. The Hadsells never did find out
